Old-style Vaudeville at 7th Street Theatre August 25-26

Coming to Hoquiam's 7th Street Theatre Saturday August 25 and Sunday August 26, "Applaudville" offers a modern day twist on the type of show that was featured when the historic 7th Street Theatre first opened: old-style Vaudeville.

Not only does the music, comedy, magic and variety show harken back to the days when the theatre was young, but its principal member has a local connection. Sage Viniconis, of Seattle, was visiting his mother in Hoquiam back in May when he read a story on the 7th Street Theatre and thought it would be a great venue for that which is both his passion and profession, a Vaudeville-type show called "Applaudville."

Viniconis is part of an eclectic group of performers collectively known as The Petting Zoo Players. They describe themselves and what they're as "...a polymorphic troupe of multitalented, highly creative entertainers – a cornucopia collective group of talent that consists of stilt walkers, mummers, musicians, magicians, acrobats and clowns. Our mission is to stop the world for just a brief moment... and allow people to 'breathe in thought' with our unique style of interactive theatrical entertainment."

The organizers of Hoquiam's On Track Art Festival thought Applaudville would be a great addition to their weekend of arts, crafts and fun, especially since it will take place just down 7th Street from the Festival itself.

The Applaudville curtain goes up at the 7th Street Theatre at 7:00 pm on Saturday, August 25 and 3:00 pm on Sunday, August 26. Tickets for the Saturday show are $10 for adults, $7 for seniors and $5 for children 12 and under. The Sunday show offers a special price of $7 for all seats. More information is available on the theatre's web site, www.7thstreettheatre.com, or by calling the theatre's information line, 360/537-7400.
